Louvres Sunscreens Natural Ventilators

Over forty years continuous development has seen Naco expand from glass louvres into standard and high performance metal louvres, sunscreens and natural air ventilators.

From simple screens to special applications the metal louvre range provides a wide variety of styles in both standard and performance louvres as well as sight proof and movable blade applications, giving the architect and designer a full range of products to meet any application.

Sunscreens continue to be popular for many applications in commercial buildings, meeting the needs for control of light and ventilation while offering designers a palette of possible effects within the external cladding.

A comprehensive range of natural air ventilators now compliments the well established double glazed louvred and smoke ventilation products which usually integrate with modern building management and ventilation systems.
